TV Arrives in Juneau!!

Limited Program Slated for Sunday

*February 18, 1956--*KINY-TV will start limited programming Sunday afternoon unless unforeseen additional troubles develop. William J. Wagner, owner, explained that there are many bugs that must be ironed out before KINY-TV can deliver a perfect picture. He is sorry for the delays but pointed out that all new TV stations go through this stage. Wagner said that from a technical standpoint it would be far better to wait until everything was perfect before going on the air but it might be quite some time. "We are going to go ahead and give Juneau the best. We will improve it day by day." Daily Alaska Empire

Local TV Reception Exceeds Expectations

February 20, 1956--William J. Wagner owner of KINY-TV said reception on television last night was beyond the station's expectations... "really excellent because we were not ready for it."

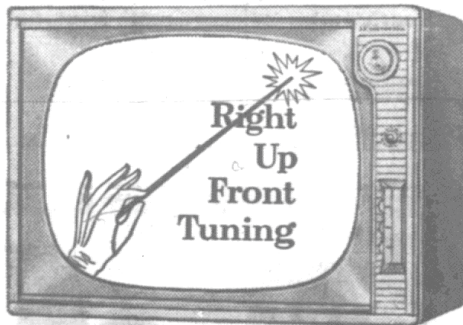

I hope that the public understands that the TV picture we will transmit at the beginning is not a comparison of the quality that will be forthcoming. Until our regular antenna atop the KINY-TV tower on the Rock Dump can be corrected, we will have to operate on a temporary antenna and power delivered to individual sets will be only one tenth as strong. There are also many technical things that must be corrected before KINY-TV will be ready to deliver a perfect picture.

Programs ran from 6:00 PM until 10:00 PM last night, leading off with a talk by Wagner and a news broadcast by Dick Peter. The station will be on the air barring difficulties every night from now on with programs beginning at 6:45 PM. The test pattern will be shown at 5:00 PM, to enable viewers to line up their sets. Daily Alaska Empire
